Responding to Domestic & Family
Violence in LGBTQ+ Communities

WHAT IS SEE, HEAR, BELIEVE FOR COMMUNITIES AND WORKPLACES?

See, Hear, Believe for Communities and Workplaces is a self-paced eLearning course which aims to create communities and workplaces who are ready to support and assist LGBTQ+ people experiencing domestic and family violence (DFV).

Domestic and family violence affect anyone, with research indicating that 60% of LGBTQ+ people have experienced violence or abuse by an intimate partner or family member in their life.

This eLearning course features powerful video stories and practical exercises designed to equip family, friends, workplaces and community with the knowledge and skills to identify LGBTQ+ DFV and support LGBTQ+ victims and survivors.

See, Hear, Believe was spearheaded by the LGBTQ Domestic Violence Awareness Foundation and made possible through the generosity of victim-survivors and specialists in our communities who chose to share their stories.
